STATE RELIEF TO BE PROBLEM OF SOLONS

ALLAHASSEE, Oct. 11. (FNS)—The major issues facing the legislature will most likely be the provision of funds for state purposes. It is generally understood that Federal Relief Administrator, Harry Hopkins expects several states, including Florida, which will hold early legislative sessions to make state appropriations to supplement federal funds. The State of Florida, as is limited in this respect as State constitution prohibits the ing of bonds for the purpose

any loans be made.
Florida has received approxi-
$38,000,000 since July 1933
emergency relief and civil administration programs.
During the same period, contribumade by the state and local local subdivisions has been less $2,500,000.

OUTLAW DAM
The outlaw dam in the South New River Drainage canal is still there, as is the one in the Miami canal. The farmers at South Bay and Lake Harbor are willing to swear that they are greatly debarred in getting their land prepared to start planting, because of the flow of water being stopped by these two outlaw dams. The Chamber of Commerce of Miami and Ft. Lauderdale know that this condition exists.

The residents of the South Bay and Lake Harbor sections are wondering why the parties from the upper Everglades, who are familiar with this condition, didn't ask for relief of this menace while speaking at the meeting last Thursday evening in Ft. Lauderdale, to the Chamber of Commerce of Miami, and Ft. Lauderdale. Relief of this condition would give immediate results instead of palvering about something so remote.

Produce Quality Beans and Tomatoes by using SULFOCIDE

Spraying and dipping beans and tomatoes in Sulfoicide greatly increase production and freedom from disease. Recent experiment station tests on tomatoes confirm these remarkable results. Dipping tomatoes (in these experiments) as low as 1 to 5 per cent.

Produce beans and tomatoes that bring quality prices, by spraying them and washing them with the quality spray—Sulfoicide. Begin spraying your tomatoes in the seed bed; begin spraying your beans as soon as they come up. After picking, dip them in a solution of Sulfoicide and soap. This prevents anthracnose, makes beans look crisp and snappy, and gives tomatoes that bright luscious look that brings top prices.

Shippers all over the country say the fine appearance of Florida beans and tomatoes dipped in Sulfoicide. The best dealers in Florida sell Sulfoicide—insist on having it.

THIS WEEK IS National Pharmacy WEEK

Your druggist is more than a merchant. By training he is fitted to render that service which only a registered Pharmacist can render. He deserves and should have your complete confidence.

Next to the doctor in your community comes the druggist in the safeguarding of your health. Because of the natural habit of taking things for granted, we are prone to overlook the service that a well conducted drug store supervised by a competent Pharmacist can and does render.

Your druggist has invested more than money in his business... he is investing his life. He has studied diligently to learn the fundamentals of pharmacy and chemistry.

Your druggist has served his apprenticeship, long hours... hard work. Today he stands before you a "finished product" in the scheme of life and business. Your druggist is in business not alone to supply your occasional needs in drugs and medicines... not alone to carefully compound the prescription as it is written by your doctor... not alone to supply you with medical necessities which frequently necessitate calling upon him in the middle of the night. He is in business representing an honorable profession to serve you with all drug store requirements. While your druggist is glad to be of service on emergency purchases, he wants to be your regular service station and deserves your confidence and support.

Give your druggist a break... he deserves it... a lifetime of study, careful attention to business, investment frequently beyond his personal ability, a great desire to serve and please on the moment and perpetually, a real man at heart, a student in the mind, a courageous individual who is embarked on the sea of business... he deserves your support now, tomorrow, every day... give him a greater share of your business and as you do he will be the better able to serve you and yours.
